

Distribution One

Reduced print costs are fashionable for every business

Noni B prints savings

When women's fashion retailer Noni B wanted to update their print fleet, increase their productivity and colour capabilities while also reducing their running costs, they did their research and chose to partner with print solution specialist.

The printer partner selected a print distributor that could support them in every part of the journey. From solution design to product selection to special bid pricing and even finance and installation support.

1

INSTALLATION

Delivered to your location(s) and setup to work across all PCs

2

CONFIGURATION

To print, scan, email and form designs to give you performance

3

TRAINING

Paper and toner changing is easy when you know how to do it

Secure

Every print device is set up to ensure that all data is allocated to the correct location.

Support

On-site service, and support as well as telephone and online assistance.

System

Network software that automatically alerts when consumables are running low.

Dressed for Success

Noni B increases employee productivity

The 450% increase in colour printing capability means that Noni B is now able to balance large jobs in-house and across multiple devices which reduces expensive external printing costs.

Multiple “hot-swap” redundancy devices allow Noni B to be comfortable in the knowledge that should there be an issue with any device, another device is available, on-line and only seconds away.

With the doubling of copying/scanning stations Noni B increases employee productivity.

By partnering with a Distribution One reseller, the Noni B management and their I.T. department have now successfully structured their print devices for today and well into the future.

Although one could be forgiven in thinking they must have paid a fortune to achieve this goal - it turns out that nothing could be farther from the truth.

N O N I B

“Compared to their previous running costs, Noni B is estimated have savings excess of $230 thousand dollars over four years.”

PRINT LOGIC

When upgrading the print fleet at leading fashion house Noni B, a Distribution One powered managed print service was only one logical choice.

